ClearStar.net Reports Record Revenues Despite Economic Downturn

Background Screening Industry Provider Shines Brighter in Stumbling Economy

CUMMING, GA – December 4, 2008 – ClearStar.net, a leading technology provider for the employment and tenant screening industry, announced today preliminary financial results for 2008 indicating record levels of revenue achievement. The company reported ten consecutive months of steady growth averaging 38.5% higher than the same period in 2007.

“We’re realizing this phenomenal growth as part of a pattern as more and more companies are switching from homegrown as well as competitive systems to the ClearStar.net strategy,” explained CEO of ClearStar.net, R.J. Vale. “Our Business Owners have the advantage of a nimble and flexible software-as-a-service (SaaS) offering that gives them the ability to compete cost effectively in a very challenging economic business landscape.

ClearStar.net’s three-year sales growth of 121% helped earn the company its Inc. 5000 standing in 2008.

ClearStar.net enables independent employment screening firms to provide the services that businesses need to make the best possible hiring decisions. The company serves more than 32,000 end customers that comprise a book of business of its clients, who spend anywhere from several hundred thousand dollars to several million dollars a year on employment screening.
