

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

GAPRS Integrates with ClearStar.net to Provide More Efficient Ordering System

Dallas, TX – October 2009 – G.A. Public Record Services, Inc. (GAPRS), the nationwide public record search specialist, announces the completion of XML interface connection with ClearStar.net, the first 100% Internet-based application service provider for the background screening industry. This service will allow customers the ability to utilize a secure XML data transfer between companies for all county level searches.

“We are excited about partnering with Clearstar.net in an effort to expand the benefits of our services into new markets not previously served. We believe the adoption of this industry standard will continue to be the norm amongst the background screening industry, and we look forward to continued relationships with affiliates of this rapidly expanding technology,” said Paige Fortie, Vice President of Marketing at G.A. Public Record Services, Inc.

GAPRS’ goal is to effectively bridge the communication and technological gaps that can come into play by integrating with reliable partners such as Clearstar.net. XML partnerships such as this will allow GAPRS to communicate with clients through similar web-enabled interfaces, also allowing for the seamless exchange of critical information to take place.
